Training Course Overview

Would you follow a leader who isn't confident? If you're wise the answer is No.

All leaders must have a high level of self-confidence and can demonstrate this to their people. It is hard to put all your trust and follow someone who is not confident in their own ability. This Anderson training course is a self-confidence boot-camp, whether you are shy, quiet, or already quite confident; you will leave feeling much more confident than when you walked in. This is delivered by a specialist confidence coach who is passionate about developing people's level of self-confidence and who has successfully helped thousands of people to grow their confidence. You will be shown how to increase your confidence in public speaking, running meetings, dealing with conflict, selling your ideas, dealing with senior executives and managing a team. This training course can be a game changer for anyone who is willing to give a week to developing themselves to leave behind uncertainty and self-doubt.
