ONLINE TRAINING COURSE OVERVIEW

The primary challenge of Donor-Funded Projects lies in balancing social objectives with effective financial management aligned with donor requirements. Financial planning and management within Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) are essential to achieving overarching goals, including accountability to donors, ensuring future sustainability, preventing fraud and theft, making informed decisions, enhancing credibility, and bolstering fundraising efforts.

This hands-on training course is specifically crafted to enhance accountability, credibility, and transparency in periodic donor-funded NGO projects. It places significant emphasis on improving participants' proficiency in Financial Accounting and Project Finance, aiming to empower them with practical skills for effective management and reporting.

This online training course will feature:

- Fundamentals of Donor Funded Projects
- Financial Statements Analysis
